

Announcing the indispensable guide to the study of antique English silver...

ENGLISH SILVER

1675 • 1825

STEPHEN G.C. ENSKO
EDWARD WENHAM

Long out-of-print and once again available in a new, revised edition, this book is for everyone seeking a dependable and authentic reference to the rewarding field of collecting antique silver.

Detailed drawings identify with a precision and clarity far greater than photographs, the changes that occurred decade by decade during the most important period of English domestic silver work. The sample drawings below show how easily style, form and small details which distinguish each period can be traced with the aid of this book, which is useful for pewter and brass identification as well.

Over 200 line drawings like the ones pictured above.

The ARCADIA PRESS revised edition has:

- * Enlarged Assay Marks, in clearly arranged tables, with sharpened outlines for easy identification
- * Readable, succinct text which helps the collector make best use of the assay tables and drawings
- * Expanded bibliography for additional study in the field
- * Small format for portable use without sacrificing information or complete details
- * Quality Manufacture: cloth-over-board binding with silver leaf stamping, sewn signatures for durability, fine paper, handsome dust jacket, authentic period decorations throughout

This is a book for:
Collectors
Appraisers
Dealers
Decorators
Investors

ENGLISH SILVER 1675-1825

ISBN 0-9-38186-00-0
LC 80-69593
$37.50

"The Ensko and Wenham charts of characteristic silver shapes clearly express the anatomy of the shifts of fashion in English plate. They have proved to be a valuable shortcut in familiarizing my students with the major styles."

Carl Christian Dauterman
Adjunct Professor, Columbia University
Curator Emeritus,
The Metropolitan Museum of Art

"The average new collector and general appraiser will find the clear drawings, showing the development of form during the greatest period of English silver, a useful aid in the study of the subject."

Anthony Phillips
Director, Silver Department
Christie's, New York

Over 200 line drawings, bibliography and assay mark appendix. $37.50